About RISE.

Celebrating Excellence, Building Community.

The RISE Awards have honored the outstanding accomplishments of immigrants and local businesses who drive Edmonton forward. What began as a commitment to empowerment has grown into our city's premier celebration of social, cultural, and economic development.

By recognizing the remarkable contributions of newcomers, we highlight the vital role diversity plays in our collective success. Partnering with the RISE Awards means investing in the talent and innovation that fuel our local economy and strengthen our social fabric.

We continue this tradition in 2026 for the 20th Annual RISE Awards.

History of Newcomer Centre.

*Our commitment. Their courage.
Our collective future to RISE together.*

For four decades, the Edmonton Newcomer Centre has stood alongside people starting over and continuing their lives in a new country: helping them navigate the Canadian system, build meaningful connections, and supporting them to harness their potential in their new home.

Our services empower newcomers at every stage of their journey—from initial settlement and language training to mental health support and professional growth through career and entrepreneurship pathways.

Impact.

“The support I received helped me rebuild my life. That first step changed everything.”

14 years ago, Marwa Alshara fled Syria with her family as war engulfed their home. She arrived in Edmonton with little more than determination and hope. Through the Edmonton Newcomer Centre's Youth and Community Programs, Marwa found mentors, community, and a safe place to dream again. She rebuilt her confidence step by step until she was ready to pursue what once felt impossible.

Today, Marwa is a licensed architect in Alberta and British Columbia, contributing to schools, community hubs, cultural spaces, and First Nations projects across Canada. She now mentors emerging professionals and advocates for inclusive design because she knows exactly what it means to rebuild a future from the ground up.
